

Bullying Court Case settled out of court

A family settled out of court with the Ottawa school board because the school failed to keep their daughter safe. The lawyer for the family said, more families need to come forward because even though there are all sorts of laws and policies, school boards across Ontario are failing to meet their responsibilities and putting too much responsibility back on the victim and their families. The original amount the family was suing for was $300,000. Both parties agreed to keep the details confidential of the settlement.

Click below to watch the video

<http://www.cbc.ca/video/player.html?category=News&zone=ottawa&site=cbc.news.ca&clipid=1415878011>

Corina Morrison
Carleana DeKolver
London Anti-Bullying Coalition
Many Voices ... One Vision to eliminate bullying www.londonabc.ca